LAST CHANCE IN HILLARYS – TWO LOTS REMAINING

Savvy property buyers are being urged to act fast to snap up one of the last house and land packages available at C’Air in the sought-after coastal suburb of Hillarys.

Only two lots remain at the popular Pindan development – one of the last opportunities to secure priceless real estate in this well-established sea-side suburb.

Pindan project sales manager Nuno Carvalho said C’Air offered a slice of prime location and the award-winning development was proving popular with young families, professional couples, investors and even those wanting to downsize in retirement.

“98 per cent of house and land packages at C’Air have already sold out, so this really is the last chance to secure one of the last pieces of land in Hillarys,” he said.

“With the Hillarys Marina, Whitfords Shopping Centre and the beach right down the road, as well as great schools, shopping centres, restaurants and cinemas nearby, C’Air is attracting a lot of attention.”

Homes at C’Air start at $670,000 and include up to 200 square metres of living space, all with double garage.

Mr Carvalho said one of the key features of C’Air was its focus on sustainability with all homes boasting Eco Smart accreditation.

“Everything has been thought about from the environmental perspective including passive solar design, energy efficient lighting, water friendly garden designs and a Construction Management Plan that minimises waste and enhances recycling,” he said.

“All C’Air homes have Eco Smart accreditation, ensuring they will be environmentally responsible, sustainable and cost effective.”

C’Air took out the Urban Development Institute of Australia (UDIA) Best Residential Development – Less than 250 Lots, in 2006.
